

Welcome to the Bucknell University Environmental Center

Created in November 2004, the Bucknell University Environmental Center (BUEC) has provided a venue for interdisciplinary teaching, research, and outreach related to nature and the environment at its current location along Fraternity Road since 2007. The BUEC brings together faculty, staff, and students through its four initiatives: the Susquehanna River Initiative, the Place Studies Initiative, the Campus Greening Initiative, and the Marcellus Shale Initiative. The BUEC also offers outdoor classroom models with exhibits of native plant gardens, stormwater management, and renewable energy sources.

The following faculty and staff form the core of the BUEC:
